

Water, Waterways and Seas in Modern Japan: Perspectives of Environmental History

Saturday, May 30th, 9:00 AM (Japan Time)

09:00 Opening Remarks Cyrian Pitteloud (EFEO / University of Geneva)

Panel 1

09:10 "Navigation and Sociology of Knowledge in Late Tokugawa Pelagic Voyages"
Jonas Ruegg (Harvard University)

09:40 "Contamination of Waterways in Meiji and Taishō Japan: Early Considerations"
Cyrian Pitteloud (EFEO / University of Geneva)

10:10 Panel Discussion

10:30 Coffee Break

Panel 2

10:45 "Governing Mountains and Waters: Flood Control, Forests, and Aboriginal Taiwanese under Japanese Colonialism"
John Hayashi (Harvard University)

11:15 "Vanishing Islands of Modern Japan: A Short History of Mujintō since 1945"
Paul Kreitman (Columbia University)

11:45 Panel Discussion

12:05 Lunch Break

Panel 3

13:00 "Spatializing Intimacy: The Prefabrication and Personalization of Water in the Japanese Dwelling, 1955–1990"
Michelle Hauk (Columbia University)

13:30 "Hypercultivation: Rethinking Aquaculture's Ecological Limits in Ago Bay, 1950s-1970s"
Kjell Ericson (Kyoto University)

14:00 Panel Discussion

14:20 Coffee Break

14:30 Concluding Remarks Paul Kreitman (Columbia University)

Prior registration is required
Email us at efeo.kyoto@gmail.com

Please refer to our websites for detailed information